1. What is the final title of your project?

ArchInspire

2. What is the problem statement of your project?

Giving easy access to a wide range of inspiration to architecture students to inspire creativity and unique design.

3. Who are the potential stakeholders of your project?

Architecture majors, working architects, architect educators

4. What is this project's scope (boundaries, what is in and out)?

The website will have sections for different types of architecture. Each will lead to a gallery/carousel page which will have more sources and a brief explanation of each piece. We will also have an opportunity to send something to an email to get it on the website. In addition to student projects, we will have a page with links to existing business galleries for students to see examples of made projects.
